CONDUCTING HONORS RESEARCH

GNHE 399: Honors Seminar Human Ecology

FALL Semesters
1 CREDIT HOUR

Fridays 10:30 – 11:20 **

Sophomore and Junior Status Preferred

This 1-credit seminar will provide an overview of research methodology applicable to Honors research projects.

Class Sessions will include:

- Identifying a Faculty Mentor/Advisor
- Library Resources
- Developing Your Research Questions
- How to Develop and Write a Literature Review
- Research Process/Scientific Method
- Institutional Review Boards
- Writing Findings and Discussion
- Advice from a Panel of Honors Students

Note: The class typically meets every other Friday during the Fall semester.

This seminar is open to all Honors Program Students, including majors in the College of Human Ecology and students in other colleges.

For more information contact:

Briana S. Nelson Goff, PhD
Honors Program Coordinator
College of Human Ecology
(785) 532-1490
bnelson@ksu.edu